Charles Medley, Master Distiller

After Prohibition ended in 1933, my grandfather, 5th Generation bourbon distiller Thomas Aquinas Medley, began production of a new brand of bourbon... a brand he called Old Medley. Though Thomas Aquinas Medley died in 1940, the brand he created — Old Medley — survived for several decades before ceasing distribution a few decades ago.

Today, my son Samuel Wathen Medley and I are proud to honor the legacy of Old Medley with this limited release, 12 year old Kentucky straight bourbon whiskey. As my grandfather may have said,

“this bourbon is without flaw.”
